

Systema Naturae 250

26-27 August 2008, Paris
icz2008.snv.jussieu.fr

A symposium of the 20th International Congress of Zoology celebrating 250 years of the scientific naming of animals, starting with the publication of the 10th edition of Linnaeus's Systema Naturae, on January 1st 1758, organised by the International Commission on Zoological Nomenclature.

250 years of Zoological Nomenclature

Programme 26 August 2008 PM

Session 1 (ICZ S4): Systema Naturae 250: The Linnaean Ark - 250 years of animal names

Presentation of the Sherborn Award for services to biodiversity informatics. This will be presented by twice Pulitzer prize-winning author, and leading biodiversity scientist, Professor Edward O. Wilson of Harvard University.

Keynote Speaker -

Edward O. Wilson: The Linnaean Ark.

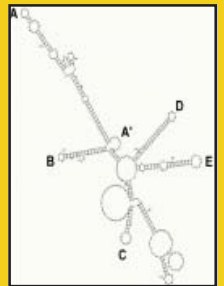

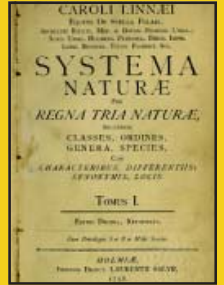

David Quammen: Linnaeus - name giver. A passion for order (presented by Andrew Polaszek).

James Dobreff: In the wake of the Linnaean Ark - Daniel Rolander's Diarium Surinamicum and its insects.

Hans Dieter Sues: Fossils and Linnaean classification.

Gordon McGregor Reid: The naming of threatened animal and plant species - a matter of life and death.

Quentin D. Wheeler: Linnaean classifications - from Ark to Battlestar.
